PREFACE.

THIS List has been compiled for several reasons, but chiefly to serve as a catalogue of the Exhibition of Current Magazines held at Newcastle-upon-Tyne on 29th August—2nd September, 1904, in connection with the Annual Meeting of the Library Association. Its permanent purpose will be to supply Library Committees and Librarians with a suggestive list of many of the world's leading magazines, which may aid in securing for libraries a representative and cosmopolitan selection of periodical publications. In connection with the permanent collection of examples of magazines preserved in London and elsewhere, it is hoped that Librarians who are engaged in the task of choosing selections of good magazines may be enabled to do so more thoroughly if they have a handy list to guide them, and a selection of copies of the actual publications which can be examined.

Apart from the Lists of Periodicals and Serials issued by individual libraries like Boston (Mass.), Providence, etc., and the "Union" Catalogues of Periodicals compiled for various towns, such as Manchester, Chicago and Evanston, etc., I am not aware that anything of a similar kind has been issued before. This List must, therefore, be expected to suffer from the many defects of a pioneer work, somewhat hastily compiled, and this edition should be considered as "under revision". The utility of a List of this kind from the Librarian's point of view is unquestionable, and judging by numerous requests which have been addressed to myself, I should think that the need for a brief but comprehensive guide was very general. I have done everything I could to procure trustworthy lists of the best and most representative periodicals of every country, and I have to thank many Librarians and others for their helpful co-operation, without which it would have been impossible to procure materials for the purpose.

The List is restricted to current magazines on most of the leading subjects of human knowledge, but newspapers, and periodicals devoted solely to Sects, Politics, or Sport and minor trades and professions have been omitted. The reasons for this are quite obvious. To attempt to cover the whole field would be presumptuous, while the inclusion of purely controversial periodical literature in public libraries is undesirable, unless for special reasons.

I am indebted to the following Librarians for lists of the best and most representative magazines of their several countries :—

Alvan Gil Albacete, Chief of the Register, Biblioteca Nacional, Madrid.

Emmanuel de Bom, Public Library, Antwerp.

Dr. G. A. Crüwell, University Library, Vienna.

Xavier da Cunha, Biblioteca Nacional, Lisbon.

W. E. Foster, Public Library, Providence, R.I., U.S.A.

Miss L. Haffkin, Public Library, Karkoff, Russia.

Chokuro Kadono, B.A., C.E., London (Japanese List).

Jeejeebhoy P. Mistri, Petit Library, Bombay.

Haakon Nyhuus, Public Library, Kristiania, Norway.

Dr. Paul Schwenke, Royal Library, Berlin.

Adjunkt Andreas S. Steenberg, Horsens, Denmark.

For assistance with special departments of Periodical Literature, I am especially indebted to the following gentlemen :—

J. R. Boosé, Royal Colonial Institute, London.

Archibald Clarke, Royal Medical and Chirurgical Society, London.

G. K. Fortescue, British Museum.

E. Wyndham Hulme, Patent Office Library, London.

G. H. Palmer, National Art Library, South Kensington.

R. A. Peddie, Acting Librarian, Technical Library, St. Bride Foundation Inst., London.

To Messrs. William Dawson & Sons, Ltd., Bream's Buildings, London, E.C., I am greatly obliged for a long and select list of the most popular foreign magazines imported by them, and for the useful information given in their List of Newspapers and Magazines. My very best thanks are also due to the numerous publishers throughout the world who have made the permanent collection of magazines possible, by sending specimen copies in response to my request. The great variety, interest and value of this collection can only be realised by actual inspection.

In the compilation of this List I have been greatly assisted by Miss Alice Jones, Finsbury Public Libraries, who did most of the actual compilation as well as other work, and to her my thanks are especially due.

JAMES DUFF BROWN.

LAMBERT'S APPLIANCES

FOR

PERIODICAL PUBLICATIONS.

THE following Appliances for Registering and Fastening Magazines and Newspapers are the best known, most widely used, and most scientific in existence. They are in use in over 200 British and other libraries, and effectually provide for every form of periodical as regards size, shape and thickness. Being specially made for libraries, and not simply turned out in large quantities commercially, to suit a cheap market, these appliances are thoroughly strong and reliable, and constructed on sound mechanical principles. In ordering these appliances, please communicate direct with the inventor and maker at the undermentioned address.

ADJUSTABLE PERIODICAL LIST.

A Frame for holding a complete printed list of periodicals supplied to a library or reading-room, with means for adding or withdrawing any title or titles at any point, in order to keep the list up to date. Printed entries supplied from a stock of over 4,000 titles, representing nearly every British newspaper and magazine of any importance, and many Foreign and American periodicals. Price according to size and number of titles supplied.

SIMPLEX NEWSPAPER ROD.

A Metal Rod for securing newspapers to desks or reading-stands, with easily-operated screw fastenings. Now used in nearly every modern library, and generally specified by architects as the best. Price from 3/6 each.

SIMPLEX CLIPS.

Metal Clips, adjustable to any size of newspaper or review, and securing them to reading-stands by means of a simple screw-fastening. Price from 2/6 a pair.

REVOLVING HOLDER FOR ILLUSTRATED PERIODICALS.

A Metal Holder, furnished with a pair of adjustable clips to take varying sizes of periodicals, for fastening to reading-desks, and enabling illustrations printed lengthways to be turned round for examination. Price 10/- each.

MAGAZINE FASTENER.

For securing magazines of all thicknesses to tables, and enabling them to be turned over without bunching. Price from 7/6 each.

In leather, buckram or cloth. Can be supplied in all sizes.

FIXED LOCATION.

In many libraries all newspapers and magazines displayed in the reading-room are given a fixed numerical location, and are indexed by means of an Adjustable Periodical List. This method has the advantage that a reader can immediately find the position of any periodical required.
